Information on Modules Offered to Non-Tembusu Students:

In Semester 2 of AY2016/2017, NUS is embarking on a pilot to open up seminar modules offered by some of the residential colleges to the wider NUS community.

Tembusu seminars offer a unique experience. They are capped at 15 students, and there are no quizzes or exams, only discussion, written work, and special projects taking a variety of forms. In our Junior and Senior Seminars, we foster a collegial atmosphere in which students learn from each other as well as faculty members. All of our offerings are interdisciplinary in nature, and students from different departments in the university sit around the same table. The emphasis is on curiosity, critical thinking, exploring beyond your boundaries, and actively participating in your own education.

Where can I find the timetable and module descriptions?

Semester 2 Timetable:

Junior Seminars: https://tembusu.nus.edu.sg/education/junior-seminars

Senior Seminars: https://tembusu.nus.edu.sg/education/senior-seminars

When/how do I register for a module?

You may submit and rank your module preferences through the online RC Module/Class Appeals System (not CORS bidding).

System opens: 5 January 2017, Thursday, 9:00AM

System closes: 13 January 2017, Friday, 11:59PM.

You will be able to appeal for most if not all modules/timeslots. To maximize your chances of getting a place, please select as many modules/timeslots as possible and apply early. Priority is given to our own students but we estimate about 15 places in Junior Seminars and 30 in Senior Seminars will be available to non-Tembusu students.
Students admitted in AY2016/17 may select from the Junior Seminars, while students admitted earlier may select from the Junior Seminars and Senior Seminars.

When/how will I be notified of the allocation outcome?

You will be notified of the outcome by the 16th of January. Results will be released on a rolling basis as they are processed starting from about the 11th of January. If successful, the module will be pre-allocated to you in CORS.

How is the module counted towards graduation?

For students admitted in AY2014/15 and before, modules with the GEM or UTC prefix may fulfil General Education requirements while modules with the UTS prefix may fulfil the Singapore Studies requirements.

For students admitted in AY2015/16 and after, modules may be used to seek exemption from one of the General Education pillars. You may apply for the exemption through your module host College towards the end of the semester.

Otherwise, the module can count as an Unrestricted Elective.

*Not applicable to students from Law, Medicine, Dentistry and Yale-NUS College. Please contact your own Faculty/School for advice.

How is the module graded? Can I exercise the S/U option on the module?

The Junior Seminar is graded on a Completed Satisfactorily / Completed Unsatisfactorily (CS/CU) basis. Senior Seminars are letter graded but eligible for the S/U option.
