Information on Modules Offered to Non-Tembusu Students:

In Semester 2 of AY2019/2020, modules offered by some of the residential colleges will be opened to the wider NUS community.

At Tembusu, any remaining spaces after college students that need to read the courses have enrolled will be made available to you. There might be limited spaces for Semester 2 in view of the demand.

The details below will provide you with more information on what modules are offered by Tembusu for Non-Tembusu Students and the procedures for selecting these modules.

Are there any restrictions to the module I can read?

Students admitted in AY2019/20 may select from all the Junior Seminars, while students admitted in AY2018/19 and before may select from all the Junior Seminars and Senior Seminars.

Where can I find the timetable and module description?

Here are the module details for the new semester to better plan your module selections:

When/how do I register for a module?

You may submit and rank your module preferences through the online e-Survey from the following link (not ModReg System).

Survey opens: 10 January 2020, Friday, 12 noon
Survey closes: 15 January 2020, Wednesday, 5pm.
Please note that if there are multiple submissions from a student, only the latest submission will be processed.

When/how will I be notified of the allocation outcome?

You will be notified via email. Results will be released on a rolling basis from 14th January onwards (or earlier), and the module will be pre-allocated to you in ModReg.

How is the module counted towards graduation?

For students admitted in AY2014/15 and before, modules with the GEM or UTC prefix may fulfil General Education requirements while modules with the UTS prefix may fulfil the Singapore Studies requirements.

For students admitted in AY2015/16 and after, modules may be used to seek exemption from one of the General Education pillars. You may apply for the exemption through your module host College towards the end of the semester.

Otherwise, the module can count as an Unrestricted Elective.
